SEVENTIETH ANNUAL REPORT OF THE COLUMBIA INSTITU-TION FOR THE DEAF

COLUMBIA INSTITUTION FOR THE DEAF,

KENDALL GREEN,

Washington, D. C., September 1, 1927.

Sir: During the fiscal year July 1, 1926, through June 30, 1927, there were under instruction in the advanced department of the institution, known as Gallaudet College, 84 men and 51 women, a total of 135, representing 37 States and Canada. This is an increase of 8 compared with the preceding year.

In the primary and grammar department, known as the Kendall School, there were under instruction 29 boys and 27 girls, a total of 56. This is a decrease of 2 compared with the preceding year. Of the total in this department, 50 were admitted as beneficiaries of the District of Columbia.

There were admitted to the institution 31 males and 27 females; discharged, 29 males and 23 females.

HEALTH

The health of the students and pupils of our institution during the fiscal year which ended June 30, 1927, was excellent. Two of the students of the advanced department were operated on for appendicitis, one at home and one at a local hospital, and both made good recoveries. There were minor surgical cases, due to accidents on the streets or athletic fields, but no deaths or serious cases of illness.

The policy of inoculating new students against typhoid fever, following up smallpox vaccinations, immunizing against diphtheria, and testing for immunity to scarlet fever was continued during the year. Special attention was given to our dairy. Physical examinations of milkers were made, and weekly bacteriological tests of the milk were obtained throughout the year.

COURSES OF INSTRUCTION

In the collegiate department, a course in English composition for the seniors was added. The study of German was made optional for the seniors after omitting the study of this language for several years. The course of study in the Kendall School remained the same with the exception that rug weaving was taken up by a number of the older girls, and excellent work done in this line under the manual training instructor.

NEEDS OF THE INSTITUTION

The limited number of free scholarships and dormitory space for students of the advanced department has brought the institution to a point where those interested in the education of the deaf feel that an expansion is necessary for the best interest of intelligent deaf young people of the country. During the past year the dormitories were filled practically to the limit, and nearly all free scholarships were taken up. The Convention of American Instructors of the Deaf and the Conference of Superintendents and Principals of American Schools for the Deaf have urged on the authorities of the institution the provision of larger funds for expansion of the work of the institution with deaf people, for the enlargement of the normal department, and for the establishment of a research department in the institution, which can take up problems relating to the occupations and life of the deaf, causes and prevention of deafness, and other subjects which will be of help in the future development of special education. An administration building for offices, classrooms, library, and other activities now carried on in the college men's dormitory would provide much needed space for men students. An addition to the present laboratory building is also needed for the expansion of scientific work. In order to do this, it will be necessary to provide a new heating unit in the power house to take care of the proposed Such an expansion will naturally call for greater expenditure for support, including salaries of instructors and upkeep of plant.
